Rapid Self-Assessment of Concurrent Enrollment Quality Practices College Provided Faculty Model NACEP Accreditation Institute

Purpose

These worksheets will familiarize you with some of the core practices identified in NACEP's quality standards for College Provided Faculty model (CPF). NACEP has observed that consistent implementation of these practices distinguishes high quality programs. These worksheets do not directly cite the standards. Instead it paraphrases and identifies some of the ways the standards are operationalized and key areas where programs encounter difficulty during accreditation reviews.

The worksheets are intended to be used by teams of representatives from a single college or university discussing the topics together. If you are attending alone or in a small team, you should discuss the topics with individuals who likewise are attending alone – sharing practices from your institution and gaining insights into strategies used at other colleges.

Curriculum and Assessment Standards

Program Evaluation Standards

- E1 Students complete end-of-course evaluations for each CPF course, every time it is taught. The college reports findings to instructors. CPF evaluations are generally the same content and are conducted similarly to on campus evaluations.
- E2 The institution or program does ongoing evaluations of its effectiveness for program improvement. Some target groups to consider:
- a. CPF current students and alumni
  - b. Participating partners/institutions
